

Why Have an Interview?

It is Important to:

- Get to know the worker and the worker can get to know the individual and your family.
- See if the individual and worker share similar interests and hobbies.
- Understand why the worker is interested in working with your family.
- Learn the worker's skills, available hours and rate of pay.
- Tell the worker what their duties will be when supporting the individual and check if that works for the worker.
- See how the worker and individual interact with each other.
- Decide whether you want to hire the worker based on whether they are a good fit.
- Give them a copy of the contract to read.
